I think they have now reduced it to 0.06c however mine is fixed for a year. They have an alternative where you pay 0.22 but they give you 0.15. That would be even better for me but if I change now I lose my credit. I may change when I have used my credit in Jan/Feb. They credit the whole invoice. I have had zero bills for the last 4 months.

if thats the case maybe ill give them a call in the next couple days and see if i get a different answer. is there anywhere it has been confirmed that the battery is damaged by this issue, i ...
